Crazy Socks Gift Bags

Inspired by Elana's own time in treatment. Tired of dull hospital socks, she set out to bring color and comfort to other kids in the hospital.

Our Story

Elana was only 7 years old when she spent 18 months between two hospitals, enduring 9 cycles of chemotherapy, 15 surgeries, and 6 months in a full-body cast. On the day of her final treatment, she realized her own battle had ended, but the fight for other children and families had not. So she started KCCF.

The Need

1,100
children diagnosed with cancer worldwide every day — about 28 school buses

average age at diagnosis. Many spend half their lives in the hospital

“My child is alive because of KCCF”

“When Daniz was diagnosed with cancer, there was no hope for her in Azerbaijan. Then I was connected to Elana, whose charity covered all our medical expenses and travel to New York and embraced us like family. If it weren’t for them, Daniz might not be with us today.” — Vusala, Daniz’s mom

Our Impact
